

Bradley Polls Opinions Over Western Europe

By ELTON C. FAY
WASHINGTON—(AP)—General Omar Bradley, the joint chiefs of staff chairman will personally poll opinions and intentions among the top military leaders in Western Europe on the trip he starts tomorrow. His poll will cover Americans and allies alike. Thorny problems have developed in recent months. Although some of them are essentially diplomatic, they also have such strong military complications as to be of direct concern to the planning of the uniformed chiefs like Bradley.

Four Big Questions
Thus it may be assumed Bradley will want to know how his opposites feel about such questions as:

1. The geographical extension of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization area to embrace Greece and Turkey.
2. The commands of the naval forces in the North Atlantic and in the Mediterranean.
3. The overall and complex problems connected with hustling up the military organization under the NATO treaty.
4. Progress (and delays, if any) in the overseas operation of the United States' part in the Mutual Defense Assistance Program.

What Bradley learns in a busy ten days trip to Paris and London probably will influence heavily what he will tell Congress when the MDAP bill comes up and help shape his testimony on the 1952 fiscal year budget, committee hearings on which are just starting.

Sea Command Unsettled
He then will be speaking against the background of talks with mili-

Airman Accused Of Kidnaping

Daughter, 4, Snatched At Dowagiac, Mich.

LOGAN, W. Va. — (AP) — An Air Force private and his woman companion were held here today on charges of kidnaping his four-year-old daughter in Michigan.

The two were identified by police as Pfc. Albia Stewart, 33, of Langley Air Force Base, Va., and Miss Jean De Haven of Phoebe, Va.

Michigan authorities were reported en route here to return the pair but officers quoted the couple as saying they would fight extradition.

The arrests were made yesterday at the home of Stewart's sister in nearby Hutchinson. Both Stewart and his former wife, Mrs. Chester Murphy, who sought the warrant charging kidnaping, formerly lived in this area.

The little girl, Mary Ruth Stewart, was spirited from the home of Mrs. Murphy Monday night.

Mrs. Murphy told police at Dowagiac, Mich., that a woman gained entrance to her house on the pretense she was seeking housework and once inside gave a signal to Stewart.

Stewart and his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James Stewart, then charged inside and her former husband and his woman companion escaped with the little girl, Mrs. Murphy said.

Draft-UMT Bill Set For Approval Today

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON
WASHINGTON—(AP)—Senator Russell (D-Ga.) forecast Senate approval today of a compromise bill to extend the draft and provide a start toward a Universal Military Training program in the future.

"This is one of the most important national defense measures asked of the Congress this year," said Russell, chairman of the armed services committee. "I do not anticipate any serious Senate opposition."

Senate approval, expected this afternoon, would send the draft-UMT measure to the House, where similar action is expected next week.

The compromise calls for a four-year extension of the draft with:

1. A lowering of the minimum induction age from 19 to 18½.
2. Local draft boards would first be required to call up all men 19 through 25 before taking any below 19.

Young Navy Officer Ousted For Backing MacArthur's Views

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A d. m. Forrest P. Sherman disclosed in his testimony yesterday on the firing of Gen. Douglas MacArthur that the navy has just ousted a young officer who wrote a letter vehemently criticizing administration policies and supporting MacArthur's views.

The officer was identified by Senator Bridges (R-NH) as Lieut. (JG) W. A. Evans. Today the Chicago Tribune printed the Evans letter, as received by the Tribune in a special dispatch from Washington.

Alfred Kohlberg, chairman of the board of the American-China Policy Association, of New York, told a reporter in Washington the letter came to him. Kohlberg is an importer. He said Evans is now in the Washington area, where he was called for naval hearings on the case. Kohlberg said Evans wrote the letter last March while aboard the destroyer Rogers, off Korea.

The importer said the letter agreed in "very unrestrained language" with General MacArthur's program for broadening the war in the east against China.

Kohlberg is a long-standing critic of the administration and the booster for Nationalist China.

The letter printed by the Chicago Tribune was addressed to Kohlberg and contained deletions marked in the printed text by dashes. It said, in part:

"We have to fight with both hands tied behind our back, one hand bound by Acheson and his gang and the other hand by the pro-Soviet United Nations."

"That pro-Soviet one world administration of ours and our senile, ignorant Congress would rather have Americans slaughtered than attack Red China everywhere."

"Damn the United Nations. Long live the United States."

Truman Sleeps On Boat Cruise

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
ABOARD THE VAGABONDIA III—(AP)—President Truman was reported today to be spending much of his time aboard the White House yacht Williamsburg catching up on lost sleep.

The chief executive boarded the Williamsburg in Washington Tuesday tired and in need of rest, members of his staff told reporters on this accompanying press yacht.

He went to bed early that night when the yacht anchored off Lakistown Island, so early that he had breakfast yesterday before any of his party got up. Then, he had a long nap yesterday afternoon and he retired early last night.

Mr. Truman still hasn't made a firm decision on whether he will attend the annual reunion of the 35th division at Topeka, Kans., on June 9. This is the division which includes the 129th field artillery's battery D which he commanded in the first world war. He is expected to make an announcement within a few days. He hasn't missed an annual reunion since entering the White House.

Hush-Hush Project Of U. S. Will Work Behind Iron Curtain

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON—(AP)—Although it is a hush-hush project, the United States is trying to develop new political weapons to strike directly at the sources of Soviet power among peoples behind the iron curtain.

The latest assertion that this line of attack offers a way for the free world to seize the initiative in the conflict with Communism—and holds the key to eventual victory without global war—comes from John Foster Dulles, Republican foreign policy adviser.

Corrupted By Fear
Dulles told a University of Arizona commencement audience at Tucson last night that "despotic societies" seem hard and invulnerable; in reality, their inner life is corrupted by the excessive power of a few, by fear and jealousy, and by the stifling of individual initiative and responsibility.

Dulles, one of Secretary of State Acheson's top advisers, said it may appear Russia's leaders have the capacity to carry on the present state of half-war indefinitely. Actually, he said, he is confident their ability to do so could "quickly be disintegrated by skillfully applied pressures."

Fence-Jumpers Helped
Examples of operations already under way with the general aim of exploiting the internal weaknesses and tensions of communism include:

1. The "Voice of America" radio broadcasts of the state department, which the Russians have been attempting to jam for more than a year. The goal of these broadcasts is to tell the Russians and peoples under Red rule in Eastern Europe and the Far East the truth not only about the outside world but also about their own countries.

2. Somewhat less well known but reportedly occurring on a large scale is the defection of people from countries behind the iron curtain. They have been escaping to Western Germany in large numbers for several years; the U. S. government evidently is doing everything it reasonably can to facilitate their escape. Their desire to jump the fence is regarded as proof of dissatisfaction with Communist rule.

3. In the Far East, the U. S. is understood to have encouraged or directly assisted guerrilla movements on the Chinese mainland. Months ago an aid agreement between this government and Chinese Nationalist leader Chiang Kai-shek was quietly revised to ease the release by Chiang of guerrilla leaders inside Red China. In addition, it would not surprise many observers if American dollars and technical advice should find their way into the still disorganized but intense resistance which exists in some areas of the Chinese mainland.

The other was a taxpayer's suit. It asked a court order restoring service pending a legal test of Michigan's new law (Hutchinson Act) under which the strikers were fired. The law forbids public utilities strikes.

Heads of the striking union vowed their men would never return to work under the law. The statute provides penalties upon a return to work. The union says the law is unconstitutional.

The strike began April 21. Wages were the original issue. Then Mayor Albert E. Cobo invoked the Hutchinson Act.

Hero Quits As Head Of Greek Armies

ATHENS, Greece — (AP) — Greece's No. 1 military hero, 63-year-old Field Marshal Alexander Papagos, quit a chief of the nation's armed forces yesterday.

His walkout was followed by "minor incidents" and an army alert in Athens.

Papagos blamed his resignation on ill health. Observers here said maybe it was due to political differences with King Paul.

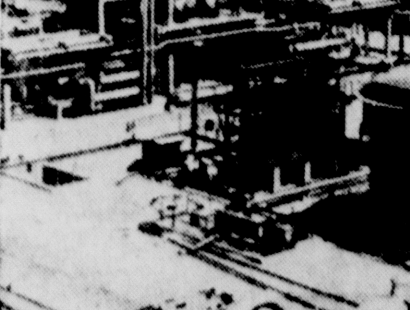

Gasoline prices will advance 1½ cents a gallon all over Michigan at midnight.

Retail dealers will begin passing on then the 1½-cent tax increase which the legislature voted last week and made effective June 1.

The boost, enacted despite a veto by Gov. G. Mennen Williams, will bring to 4½ cents a gallon Michigan's gasoline tax.

Decision of retail dealers to pass on the tax was announced by John Nerlinger, business manager of the Detroit Retail Gasoline Dealers Association, who said he had conducted a cross-section, state-wide survey.

The 1½-cent increase will be the largest in retail gasoline prices since 1947. The price was boosted 1½ cents then. It went up another one-tenth of a cent in May, 1948, and another half cent last June.

HEART OF GREAT DISPUTE: IRAN'S ABADAN REFINERY—Primary outlet of the British oil industry in southern Iran, and object of threatened seizure by the Iranian government, is the big Abadan refinery above. Largest refinery in the world, Abadan produces 25 million tons of oil annually. Its loss would be a serious blow to Britain's oil supply, would force drastic rationing of gasoline. International squabbling over Iran's oil now takes top billing in the hot-and-cold war with communism.

Thrusts Aimed At Strongholds Of Communists

Over 10,000 Enemy
Soldiers Surrender

By OLEN CLEMENTS

TOKYO—(AP)—Red troops fighting with renewed fury halted American advances today 13 miles from the Communist Korean strongholds of Chorwon and Kumhwa.

Other United Nations forces regained control of the 275 foot high Hwachon dam with comparative ease.

Across the 125 mile Korean front, allied forces slogged through the mud for slow gains or fought off sharp attacks.

The stiffest fighting swirled against American spearheads on the western and west-central fronts pointed at Chorwon, and around Inje on the east-central sector.

Back By Noon

Chinese units pitched a fantastic counterattack at dusk Wednesday against Americans in the hills around Yonchon, 13 miles southwest of Chorwon. In a night-long battle the Reds pushed the dough-boys off the ridges and shoved them back 1,000 yards.

At dawn Thursday the Americans leaped to the attack. By noon they had regained their positions on the road to Chorwon.

Frontline officers estimated at least two Chinese divisions stood between the Americans and that Red stronghold, 60 miles north of Seoul.

Yonchon itself, said AP corre-

North Pole Hop Easy, Says Flier

But Wouldn't Do It
Again, Pilot Admits

NEW YORK — (AP) — Charles Blair, Jr., the first man to fly alone over the North Pole in a single-engine plane, says the record trip was "awfully easy" but he doesn't want to do it again.

The 41-year-old airlines pilot flew across the top of the world Tuesday in his converted F-51 Mustang fighter plane, the "Flying Gas Tank," his 3,300-mile non-stop flight from Bradu, Norway, to Fairbanks, Alaska, took 10 hours and 27 minutes.

About eight hours later, Blair took off from Fairbanks and flew another 3,450 miles non-stop to New York, where he arrived at 3:40 p. m. (EST) yesterday.

Blair, on vacation from his pilot's post with Pan-American World Airways, said:

"It is awfully easy to fly across the top x x x but I wouldn't want to do it again. Once is enough."

Blair said he is ready to dispose of his plane which he used to set a non-stop transatlantic record last January when he flew it solo from New York to London in 7 hours and 48 minutes.

During the 9-hour hand 31-minute trip from Alaska to Idlewild airport, Blair ate only a beef sandwich.

PRINCE OF CHURCH DEAD

Dennis Cardinal Dougherty, 85-year-old prince of the Roman Catholic church died today at 9:15 a. m. (EST) at his residence, in Philadelphia. He was the dean of the church in the United States and had served as archbishop of Philadelphia since 1918. The short rotund cardinal, despite his advanced age, continued to carry out the duties of his high office to the moment of his death.

World Leaders Gathering On Mackinac Island

MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich. — (AP)—A world assembly to open the "moral re-armament of the nations" against Communism opens here tomorrow.

Five hundred delegates are expected from 15 countries to testify that democracy is a better way of life than totalitarian Communism. The conference will last through June 12.

This island's Grand Hotel will be the meeting place for representatives of government, industry and labor from many parts of the free world.

On the spacious verandas of the picturesque resort hotel, built in the style of the Gay '90s, dock workers and coal miners will hobnob with world-known leaders. They will exchange ideas on steps to combat the ideological threat of world Communism.

Members of the Senate and the House of Representatives will be coming from Washington.

Wage-Price Controls Flop, Congress Told

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The U. S. chamber of commerce urged Congress today to wipe out the government's authority to control wages and prices and adopt in their stead an indirect program to combat inflation.

Herman V. Steinkraus of Bridgeport, Conn., president of the chamber's executive committee said in a statement prepared for the House banking committee that price controls can only aggravate the inflation problem by stifling production and that the present wage board is encouraging wage boosts rather than controlling them.

In advance of his appearance before the House committee, Steinkraus said in another statement "it was a cheap trick on the public" for James Carey of the CIO to accuse business of trying to bribe organized labor to end price and wage controls.

Carey, the CIO's secretary-treasurer, told the Senate banking committee yesterday that big business in effect has urged unions to join in the effort to scuttle wage-price controls and then "share the loot." He named the chamber and the national association of manufacturers.

Carey said specifically that the Westinghouse electrical manufacturing corporation, offered to give its workers a nine cent an hour wage boost if the unions involved would help persuade the government to let the wage hike be reflected in higher prices for Westinghouse products.

Steinkraus called Carey's testimony "insidious" and said there is "absolutely no ground" for saying the chamber "proposed any such deal with organized labor

Fatal Mishaps Over Holiday Hit Low Mark

Traffic Death Toll
Smallest In Years

(By The Associated Press)

The nation's celebration of Memorial Day appears to have been one of the safest since the end of World War II.

The death toll in violent accidents—123—was one of the lowest for a single Memorial Day holiday in several years.

A new record low was set in the traffic death toll. The 77 killed on the highways was far below the national safety council's estimate of 110.

Millions On Highways

The safety council, noting that the toll was running below the estimate yesterday, termed the record "a marvelous achievement." Millions were on the highways for the season's first holiday outing.

The lowest traffic toll on a single major holiday since World War II was 93 on New Year's Day, 1946. Yesterday's traffic toll is not comparable to the 1950 figure as the day was counted as part of a four-day holiday. The staggering total in the four-day period was 560, including 340 traffic fatalities.

In addition to the 77 traffic deaths yesterday, 29 persons drowned and 17 others lost their lives in miscellaneous violent accidents.

The safety council yesterday announced that auto deaths de-

Three Rivers Friends Build New Home For Fire Tragedy Victim

THREE RIVERS, Mich. — (AP) — Friends and sympathetic neighbors of Paul Kline moved swiftly here to help ease the memory of a tragedy.

Kline's neighbors held a community bee yesterday to help build a new house for him. Kline's house was destroyed by fire Monday and two of his five children were killed in the blaze. His wife and the other children are recovering in a hospital.

The community gathered at the site of the burned house and began work on a new one. A wrecking company donated equipment and Kline's fellow workers began razing the ruins of the old house.

or anybody else." Steinkraus added: "And Jim Carey knows that to be a fact."

The chamber official, in his testimony for the House committee, urged that inflation be controlled by six steps: (1) maximum production, (2) reduced government spending, (3) pay-as-we-go taxes consistent "with maintaining incentives to work and produce," (4) fiscal policies to neutralize the federal debt as a source of inflation, (5) credit curbs, and (6) stimulation of personal savings.

Born June 23, 1879, Baker entered the employ of the C&NW at Escanaba as a locomotive painter Dec. 11, 1901. He became a locomotive fireman March 29, 1902, and was promoted to engineer April 30, 1907. He has been running the diesel engine on Peninsula "400" streamliner train Nos. 214 and 209.

Today Is Deadline For Price Charts

Many small retail stores with limited bookkeeping facilities and clerical help will be given the option of continuing to price under the General Ceiling Price Regulation, rather than under the retail regulation, CPR 7 by an amendment to CPR 7 to be issued Monday, May 28.

The Escanaba Chamber of Commerce has detailed information on the subject.

The Office of Price Stabilization, warned that all other retailers selling items controlled by CPR 7 and its amendments must file their pricing chart by May 31 if they want to continue to sell legally after that date. There will be no extension of that deadline, OPS emphasized.

The forthcoming action will permit small retailers selling housewares, notions, sporting goods, silverware, china, glassware, jewelry, watches, and clocks to elect to price under the General Ceiling Price Regulation rather than under Ceiling Price Regulation 7. In that connection, OPS announced that retailers will be relieved of certain "squeeze" situations in which they have been caught since the January 26 price freeze, by a supplementary regulation to the GCPR issued Monday, May 28.

Plan Final Search For Missing Woman

A final organized effort to locate Mrs. Manuel Rocheaux, 60, of Jam Dam in Gourey township, Menominee county, will be made starting at 8 a. m. (CST) Saturday, officers announced today.

Menominee sheriff's officers and state police will direct the search for the woman who has been missing from her home since Monday, May 21.

Volunteer searchers are asked to assist in the search and to report at the Gourey township community hall at the designated hour Saturday morning.

The area to be searched will include a thick swamp about one-half mile from the Rocheaux home, where footprints, a shoe and a stocking of the missing woman were discovered more than a week ago.

Earlier this week authorities expressed fear the woman had by this time died of hunger, exposure and exhaustion. The search has been hampered by hordes of mosquitoes, and the mud and water in the area where traces of her were found.

Memorial Day Observed Here

Atty. Wheaton Strom Delivers Address

Americans must dedicate themselves to keep faith with those men who made the supreme sacrifice in past wars to safeguard our liberties and way of life, Atty. Wheaton L. Strom declared in an inspiring Memorial day address at Ludington park Wednesday.

Memorial day was observed with fitting ceremonies on Wednesday under the auspices of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and women's auxiliaries presented the observance program at the park.

The United States has engaged in eight major wars in the defense of freedom and justice, Strom pointed out.

"The men who lost their lives and were maimed in those wars did not regard themselves as heroes but as ordinary people who desired to live their own normal and happy lives," he said.

In view of the fact that many of these men of the armed forces were unable to attain their desires because of the misfortunes of war, it should be the responsibility of the living to demonstrate by good citizenship that their sacrifices were not in vain, Strom added.

Starts Aerial Survey Of U. P.

Geologists Used In Project

The aerial surveying of a large part of the Michigan Upper Peninsula has been commenced by the United States Department of the Interior, Geological Survey. Skilled geologists, using the topographic maps that will result from this survey, will be able to further develop the mineral resources of the nation, and perhaps seek out more of the uranium that is so vital to the war effort.

These maps are being made from aerial photography, as this method of surveying from the air is not only quicker, but is much cheaper than the ordinary methods of ground surveying. The contract for this work has been awarded to the Abrams Aerial Survey Corporation of Lansing which has done much work of a similar nature for this branch of the United States Government in other parts of the country.

The air-mapping is being done from a height of approximately three miles and will cover nearly 6,000 square miles in an area that extends from a line east of Marquette west to Wisconsin, with the exception of most of Ontonagon county. Some of the work will be done in Wisconsin from a point near Carson and Moose Lake to Hurley.

Five Hurt When Cars Roll On Highway

There were few accidents in the Delta county area over Memorial Day, according to reports from law enforcement officers.

There were two traffic accidents reported in the county and five persons sustained minor injuries. None was hospitalized.

Four young people were hurt, none seriously, when a car driven by Richard DeGrand, 17, of Escanaba, blew out a tire and rolled over on US-2 about one-quarter mile east of St. Jacques yesterday afternoon. Passengers were Janet Sinclair, 609 North 9th street, Patricia Leser of 904 Minnesota, and William Cannon 1516 Minnesota, all of Gladstone. They were treated by a Gladstone physician. The accident occurred while they were on their way to Big Spring park for a picnic.

Mrs. Jane Bruntjens, 25, of St. Nicholas, sustained bruises and a back injury at 5:45 p. m. yesterday when the car she was driving went out of control and rolled over on the St. Nicholas road. State police of the Gladstone post said Mrs. Bruntjens told them she was blinded by dust raised by other traffic on the road.

The Road Of UMT Leads Only To Military Dictatorship In U. S.

UNIVERSAL military training passed a congressional barrier this week when the principle of UMT was embodied in the compromise draft extension bill but significantly, it was decided that universal training will not become effective without further action by Congress.

In other words, the lawmakers want to take another look at UMT and what it means to the United States at a later date. It is well that this is so. There is no immediate necessity for UMT because the draft extension bill takes care of our military manpower problem in the present emergency.

UMT is a New Dealish connotation for national peacetime conscription. We should not be confused on this point. It is a big step towards militarism as a peacetime policy of our government. As such, it represents a complete reversal of American principles since the founding of our republic.

Thousands of the men and women who migrated to our shores and helped to establish the foundations of America did so to escape national conscription in their native lands. It is indeed strange that our country whose greatness has been established by human initiative and individual freedom now is inclined to turn the pages of history back hundreds of years to accept national conscription as a panacea for our ills. It is particularly astonishing in view of the record of military corruption in those lands where conscription has been a national policy for generations.

Universal military training cannot and will not guarantee the national defense of America, any more than the Maginot Line proved the protector of the people of France in World War II. Like the Maginot Line, however, it will dissipate much of our national wealth and national resources. Even worse, it will encourage our youngsters to accept domination by military thinking and thereby tend to undermine the initiative and individual incentives that has been the fiber of our nation's greatness.

There is no surer path to military dictatorship in America than by means of universal military training. We should recognize this now—before it is too late.

Iranian Treaty Another 'Scrap Of Paper'

THE decision of the Iranian government to expropriate the British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil company is one more sordid example of the cynical disregard some nations seem to have for their treaties and agreements.

The story is essentially a simple one. Britain needed oil from Iran, and Iran needed the royalties that would result from the development of her oil resources. The Anglo-Iranian Oil company was formed. The British and the Iranian governments concluded an agreement and it was duly signed by the proper authorities.

Then Iran got a new premier and a Soviet-influenced government. A bill to expropriate and nationalize the company was hammered through the Iranian parliament.

The British government is fighting Iran's action. But, regardless of the ultimate settlement, the action will inevitably deter capital, wherever its origin, from going abroad. It will thus prevent the development and use of resources which the peoples of the world sorely need. And, more important still, it will cause a further breakdown in public faith in the world of government. The late Wilhelm II called his government's treaty with Belgium a "scrap of paper" and sent his legions across the border. Iran's action can be compared to that. There is no difference in principle.

We live in a time in which great and small governments seem to think nothing of lying, and of violating both the letter and spirit of solemn agreements. So long as that is true, there can be no stability and safety in the world for anyone.

Peace Negotiations Are Not Appeasement

APPEASEMENT is a policy in thorough and deserved dispute among all people who understand the nature of totalitarianism. Communists, like their Nazi and Fascist brethren, regard appeasement as a gesture of weakness. Hence they are never really appeased, but always press for more.

Yet in the desire to avoid any sort of appeasement, some people are tending to define that approach too broadly. They hint, for example, that in Korea anything short of utter destruction of the Chinese Reds will amount to appeasement.

In general, those who feel this way are the same ones who say, "there's no substitute for victory," by which they mean a crushing triumph that virtually wipes out the enemy.

To such people, appeasement and "negotiation" are apparently synonymous. In other words, merely talking to the enemy about peace is seen as a yielding of ground.

This notion is pretty far afield from reality, as a look at past wars and their peace-making aftermath will show. Peace is seldom achieved by the enemy's unconditional surrender, as in the Nazis' case in World War II. More often it is negotiated, before the enemy is thoroughly annihilated.

The Allies allowed Germany to negotiate peace in World War I while German soldiers were still on French soil. Even in World War II we did not insist on destroying Japan's army by fire and shell. The Japs' main force was still largely intact when they sued for peace. The soldiers still occupied much of the Asiatic land they had conquered. They surrendered because the A-bomb, devastating incendiary raids, and the cutting of overseas supply lines made ultimate defeat unmistakably clear.

Negotiating peace rather than enforcing it by arms does not inevitably lead to appeasement. Negotiations are a perfectly honorable and sensible way of ending a war. If the other fellow has had enough, what's wrong with letting him say so?

The important thing is not to avoid dealing with the enemy. It is winning peace terms which secure for you the objectives for which you undertook the war. When you fail to gain those goals, when you let the enemy have something at the council table which you have denied him on the battlefield, then negotiation does indeed move toward appeasement.

Barber Talk

By Gordon Martin

When the urgent need arises for the trimming of your hair, and you plan to take a little snooze while in the barber's chair; it affords a chance to shed your cares and silently relax, to the lullaby of scissors which the barber clicks and clacks. But you'll get some extra clacking and you'll never get your nap, if the barber is a talker with a lot of words on tap.

He may take the field of politics and make a stirring speech, and of how to cure the country's ills, he really likes to preach. Though his job is one of cutting hairs, he likes to split them too, and at times he stops and wants to know if you support his view. And at last when he has done his job and makes his final snip, then the nap that you expected is a thing you've had to skip.

But if you should draw a barber with no questions he would ask, and who makes no conversation as he goes about his task, then you get your needed haircut and a little bit of sleep, and of national affairs and such, you haven't had to weep. So refreshed and short you go your way, a happy man indeed, giving thanks for silent barbers when a trimming is your need.

MARTIN

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Most housewives don't realize it, but the honest meat dealers are the forgotten men in the big squabble over the price of beef. These wholesale and retail meat men are caught between two of the most powerful and vocal groups in the nation—the organized meat packers and the angry, unorganized housewife.

Hundreds of these wholesalers and retailers have been taking their beating in silence because, if they protest, they fear they'll be black-balled by the big packers. And they have good reason to fear the packers' wrath. For the few wholesalers who have had the temerity to protest about price-gouging packers were immediately cut off from their meat supply and forced out of business.

Said one meat wholesaler: "If I complain to the OPS, and the packers find out about it, I'll never be able to buy another pound of meat. I'd have to leave the meat business and become a wholesaler for vegetarians."

Here is what the meat middlemen are up against:

When the government freeze was imposed last January, choice beef in carload lots was selling for a top price of 53 cents a pound. Despite the freeze, and in direct violation of the government's order, the price of exactly the same carload of beef continued to mount. By April the price had moved up to 57 cents, was even quoted openly at this figure in the trade journals.

GROCER GETS SQUEEZED

This four-cent rise at the wholesale level meant about a 10-cent rise per pound to the housewife—if the local grocer passed on the illegal increase. But if he didn't pass it on, he had to pocket the loss and thereby risked going bankrupt.

More recently OPS has adopted a new pricing formula, whereby each cut of beef is given a specific price, and the price must be posted for the housewife's inspection.

This new scheme is aimed at showing up the price gouger and bringing an end to the black market. But, to get around the law, some packers—including some of the biggest names in the industry—have now come up with a new wrinkle. They're forcing their customers to accept tie-in sales, to buy unwanted cuts of meat in order to get the most salable cuts. One wholesaler, for example, was recently forced to buy 4,000 pounds of highly perishable sausage he couldn't possibly sell. Nevertheless the packer required him to buy the sausage before he could purchase a single carload of beef.

Net result of this price gouging by the meat packers is an intolerable squeeze on the wholesaler and retailer. He's frequently forced either to sell above ceiling price or go out of business.

WHERRY AND THE VEEP

Nebraska's loquacious, likable Sen. Ken Wherry, whose tongue often races ahead of his thoughts, made a slip of the tongue the other day, and called Vice President Barkley "Mr. Paragraph."

Wherry was talking about two paragraphs in a report, and blurted: "Mr. Paragraph. . . I mean, I should have said Mr. President. . ."

Senate Majority Leader McFarland immediately jumped up. "If the senator from Nebraska is going to refer to the distinguished president of the Senate in terms of words, he should refer to him as Mr. Library, not a mere Paragraph," he teased.

"I agree that if I were to designate the distinguished occupant of the chair by his ability to express himself, I should not do so by limiting him to a paragraph only," retorted Wherry.

Since this could be interpreted to mean that Barkley is long-winded, the vice president responded with a flourish: "The chair thanks the senator from Nebraska for the compliment. At least, the chair assumes his statement is supposed to be of a complimentary nature."

FRIEND OF BIG BUSINESS

GOP Congressman Kenneth Keating of New York has emerged as the newest congressional champion of big business.

Keating's district, Rochester, N. Y., is a long way from California; yet it was he who pulled chestnuts out of the fire for Pacific Gas and Electric in California and sponsored the amendment killing urgently needed government power lines.

Colleagues who wondered what the Rochester, N. Y., Republican was doing meddling in California affairs also were astonished when he popped up as sponsor of another project of the big business lobbies—aimed at crippling the anti-trust laws.

Defense Mobilizer Wilson Found Out Why Big Wheels Walk In England

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON —(NEA)— Defense Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson, on his recent trip to England, tried to sell British officials on the idea they would have to cut back their civilian economy more, to get more defense production. He mentioned that automobile production was a good place to cut. He pointed out that the U. S. auto industry was planning to cut about 30 per cent.

But the British pointed out that a 30 per cent cut on U. S. 1950 production of 6,600,000 cars would still leave this country with 4,600,000 new cars this year. The British, on the other hand, were exporting 80 per cent of their car production in order to earn foreign exchange. And the 20 per cent production kept at home left the British people with only 30,000 new cars a year.

Finally the British put over this clincher argument: Three cabinet members had been waiting five years to be allocated new cars for personal use, and still couldn't get them because they were so scarce and their need wasn't considered essential.

Question: Would U. S. officials wait patiently for five years to get a new car? Or would they find some way to exert a little pressure?

Acheson in More Trouble? Ridiculous

At a State Department top-level conference the other day, one of his aides advised Secretary Dean Acheson against taking a certain course of action. The reason given was that this policy "might get the secretary in trouble."

Secretary Acheson laughed and said, "Let me tell you a story." It went like this:

There was a man in a railway car, and he had a little boy seated on one side of him and a little girl seated on the other side. Just as the conductor came by his seat, the man reached over and gave his boy a slap on the face and when the little girl started to cry, the man gave her a good shaking.

The conductor reached over to stop the man from abusing his children. "Here, here!" he said. "You can't do that on this train. If you don't stop it I'll get you in trouble."

"Look!" the man answered. "My wife has died and she's up in the baggage car in a coffin. My little boy has just wet himself, the girl has swallowed her railroad ticket and I've lost my pocket-book. You think you can get me in trouble?"

Point 4 in Reverse Gear

This is entirely a gag, but a new movement for a "Reverse Point Four" program has been dreamed up in Washington for cocktail lounge conversation. The real Point Four program has for its idea the spreading of civilization's benefits to underdeveloped countries. Raise their standard of living, increase their productivity, get them more to eat and better clothes to wear.

The Reverse Point Four program is intended to do just the opposite. It would bring some of the blessings of the simple life from underdeveloped countries to overdeveloped America.

Ban the atomic bomb. Do away with the airplane as the principal bomb carrier and a public nuisance besides. Reduce the number of automobiles so as to cut down on traffic accidents and make walking a safe pleasure. Make trucks stay off the highways, particularly on week-ends. Cut the number of telephones by at least 50 per cent.

Require all fat people to eat less and let city men wear less, but more comfortable clothing in hot weather. Finally, make it a criminal offense to chew bubble gum, listen to juke boxes or radio commentators, or read newspaper columnists.

Flying 'Egbeaters' Blind

Experiments on blind flying of helicopters are now being conducted on an extensive scale at National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics laboratory at Langley Field, Va. Usefulness of the helicopter has been severely restricted up to now because it could not operate at night or in bad weather. Stability characteristics of the 'copters and controls have not been considered good enough to fly under all conditions. And instruments have not been developed to show exactly what the helicopter was doing in the air when blacked out.

A tendency of helicopters to roll has been detected at Langley, and means to correct this inability are already being taken. First blind flying experiments are being conducted in a dual control helicopter, in which the position of the second pilot is completely surrounded by curtains. Forward pilot, with full visibility, is able to take over if the ship gets out of control of the pilot trying to fly blind.

Capital Heat Wave

Big Four Council of Foreign Ministers' deputies have now been meeting in Paris for over three months. If they are finally successful in agreeing on an agenda for the Foreign Ministers themselves to discuss, the meeting will probably be held in Washington. U. S. Congress will be in session while the FM's are talking and this may cause a lot of complications.

If Foreign Ministers' meeting here follows pattern of previous sessions, all debates will be secret. Conference spokesmen will issue a daily communique, however, reporting progress if any, or lack of it. Every communique is bound to be discussed on floor of U. S. Congress, with a lot of bitter comment on British, French and American, as well as Russian positions.

The prediction is that Washington will have an unusually hot summer.

Only Experienced Man Need Apply

Incidentally, if U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson should be fired or resign just before the Foreign Ministers' Council convened in Washington, if would put a green hand in for the U. S. to dicker with Britain's Herbert Morrison — also new, France's Robert Schuman and Russia's Andrei Vishinsky.

Ike and Mac Disagree on Enemy

It's largely a question of semantics—or the meaning of words—but there is known to be a vast difference between the views of Generals Dwight D. Eisenhower and Douglas MacArthur on what constitutes the free world's main enemy. General MacArthur in his testimony before Senate investigators identified the enemy as "world communism."

General Eisenhower, on the other hand, has expressed the view that the real enemy is "Russian imperialism." He looks upon communism as merely the vehicle of the Russian imperialists to further their ambitions. And by inference, General Eisenhower attributes the same motives of conquest to the Stalin Politburo as to the old Russian czars.

Candles On The Pines

When the magic that is May has worked its alchemy and the warp and weft of a new green blanket has been woven over the valleys, upland fields and prairies of America, when the final hesitations and indecisions of early spring are ended and the beauty that is June is on the land, there comes a brief period when the pines light their glowing, golden candles on green branch tips. The new twig growth on the Long Needles is one of Nature's quiet but appealing pictures.

Many millions of years before grasses, flowers and hardwoods evolved in the Master Plan for our landscape, there was a vast forest of pines encircling the globe. Today scientists tell us that in terms of epochs of plant growth, the evergreens are on the way to join forgotten plants that once played their roles in bygone eras. Three belts of pines are still growing in the United States: a long, narrow strip beside the Pacific, a belt across the southern states, and an area in the northeast and north central states. We do not know all the steps in the evolution of evergreens; perhaps those strange representatives of long ago, the stubby club mosses with green fronds surrounding pollen spikes, are the ancient ancestors of our pines. Scientists are certain that the pines' naked seeds represent an epochal step in the evolution of plant reproduction from spores of ferns to the hard, encased seeds that make possible our modern flowering landscape.

The bright candles on twig tips are proof that a new growth season is well underway. Soon the pollen-producing blossoms will appear. Eight or 10 pollen cones grow in clusters on the tips of long branches. Now the pollen is ripe and a pulsing breeze often lifts clouds of golden grains into the air. In the seed cones the miracle of life occurs when chromosomes of pollen and ovule fuse. For a fortnight the pines wear the candles among their needles and the sun picks glints of gold, amber and topaz from the glowing twigs. When the pines light their candles, one knows the primal urgencies of our flowering world are on schedule. — By Haydn Pearson.

If the president can assign troops to an international command he would have authority to assign military equipment. Does he have authority to give atomic bombs to an international authority.—Sen. Bourke B. Hick-enlooper (R., Ia.)

BEHIND THE REASON — The Delta county road commission's explanation for its order closing Pioneer Trail Park to the public at 10 p. m. each day is not dictated by whim. First consideration is protection of public property in the park.

Back of that order are a number of incidents of vandalism. Park benches and tables have been broken up and burned, trees have been chopped down, the old Flat Rock cemetery of historic interest has been desecrated.

One day the park caretaker caught two carloads of young men driving their cars around the ball diamond, using it as a race track, with resulting damage to the field. He halted them, asked their names, and was told jeeringly to mind his own business.

He jotted down the license numbers and informed the law enforcement officers. Arrests followed. One driver was under 16 and had no license to operate a car, let alone damage public property with it; the other driver was older—old enough to know better.

VERY WELL NAMED—One of the favored fishing spots on Big Bay de Noc is the area around the mouth of Ogontz river. The spring perch run was good there this spring and farther out the walleyes have been hitting.

In connection with our interest in Delta county place names, where they originated and what they mean, Victor Powers of the Daily Press tells me that he understands Ogonts is a Chippewa Indian word meaning pickerel.

Fortunately the original Indian name has not been anglicized. There are already too many pickerel rivers in Michigan and Ogontz is more interesting, even if the tourists never find out what it means.

THE PEPPER-UPPER—Everyone has a good time at a baseball game, including the players.

Over at Fayette on Memorial Day we stopped for a few minutes to watch the game between the Fayette and Garden teams. As always, we were impressed with the constant line of chatter that flows from some of the players to their team mates.

"That's a good boy, Jack. That's a good boy. Whaddaya say, Jack, whaddaya say, now. Watch 'im, Jack, whaddaya say, now."

So far as we could determine, Jack minded his own business and said never a word. Incidentally, we wondered what Jack was supposed to say and asked Ray Crandall and Ken Gunderman about it. They tell me the line of chatter doesn't have to mean anything, but is designed to encourage Jack and make him play better baseball.

FOR FISHERMEN—If the "whaddaya say, Jack" line of chatter sounds peculiar to the non-baseball fan, people who do not fish would have been mystified by the words of encouragement we heard addressed to a minnow at Fayette harbor.

Among a number of fishermen lining the crumbling Fayette dock was an old gentleman who was not having very good luck with his efforts to catch perch.

Taking a minnow from the pail he would bait his hook, and before tossing it into the water would say in a loud voice: "Fishy, fishy, bite my hook!"

This incantation, repeated so often, had about the same effect on the perch as the "whaddaya say, Jack" chatter had on the baseball player. The perch refused to bite for the old man and Jack apparently ignored his exhorting team mate, and answered him not.

FINDING THE ANSWER—A note from George Springer, Minneapolis, concerning wild flower gardening, subject of a recent column.

"I'd like to hear from you after you have inquired of some wildflower gardeners about attempts to raise arbutus. Holbrook and I are soft on arbutus. He tried it without success."

The Holbrook he mentions is Stewart Holbrook, noted author of "Holy Old Mackinaw" and other books, a friend of Springer. Holbrook, Springer and I will be glad to hear from anyone who has been successful in transplanting arbutus.

Q A well-known commentator refers repeatedly to various towns or cities as being reduced to "twisted rubble." Isn't that inaccurate?

A Yes. He apparently believes that rubble means "wreckage." Strictly speaking, however, rubble means "broken or mixed stones as used in masonry." It is hard to see how broken stones could be twisted—"twirled into spiral shape; bent or contorted."

Rubble means no adjective. It is sufficient to say " . . . reduced to rubble," but only if the buildings in question were of masonry construction.

A similar error in word identity is the word shambles. We hear it in the meaning of "wreckage, rubble, disorder, debris." But the word doesn't have that meaning at all. It means "any place of carnage (slaughter)." In modern usage shambles is permissible in designating any scene of slaughter, as a battlefield, a bombed building or city in which many people were killed. But it is certainly stretching a figure of speech too far to speak of ones hair as being in "shambles," or to say that the children made a "shambles" of the living room.

Q We are undecided which word to use in this sentence: "The salesman made a (verbal? oral?) report."

A All speech and writing is verbal, for the word means, "expressed in words." Only the spoken word is oral, "uttered by the mouth." Right? The salesman made an oral report.

Why it is correct to use the indefinite article "a" instead of "an" before words beginning with "h," such as "historical," is explained in Frank Colby's leaflet, C-12. For a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Frank Colby, care of this paper, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York, N. Y.

Soldiers Die In Korea To Keep Reds From U. S.

By MARQUIS CHILDS
WASHINGTON—The first anniversary of the war in Korea will soon be at hand. The other era, before June 25, 1950, seems now a very long way off.

It was the era of the great illusion. We had a foreign policy. Communism was to be contained everywhere by American strength. But the strength to carry out this policy was not called into being. On the contrary, America's defense establishment was pared down with the complacent reiteration of the siren word, economy. So a policy that might have made sense became instead an exercise in words—a sort of never-never land of theory.

Was Cruel Awakening
The attack launched by the North Korean Communists provided a cruel awakening. Looking back to that time, which now seems so far distant, one finds it hard to realize why this attack should have seemed so astonishing. The plan of Communist aggression was no less a reality in 1948 or 1949 than it was in 1950. There are many who seem conveniently to have forgotten the atmosphere just before and just after the outbreak of the Korean War. It is convenient, since they can denounce the administration then in power for what it did and did not do. If that Communist aggression had not been met by force, in spite of the lack of preparation to meet it, the very critics who have been most vociferous in assailing the cost and the conduct of the Korean War would have been loudest in their denunciations of the Truman administration for allowing the South Korean republic to go down.

The Korean war, if the current rumors mean anything, may be about to end in a kind of stalemate. One must quickly add, however, that there is no real reason to believe that this is true and, if the war should actually end tomorrow, even those in high place would be almost as surprised as they were when it started. This is an unhappy reflection on the kind of times in which we live.

Korea Seems Afar
But one of the grimmest commentaries as the anniversary draws near, is that the Korean war has remained for perhaps most Americans something a little alien, something outside the framework of American tradition and history. That original and now grimly humorous designation of "police action" may have had something to do with it. It seemed in the beginning rather like that long-ago war against the Barbary pirates an incident in the course of restoring order to a war-torn world. We should long since have been disabused of any such notion. This has been a brutal, savage, terrible conflict in a rugged country plagued by miserable extremes of weather and inhabited by a people fanatically nationalistic and conditioned to duplicity and cruelty by a half century of Japanese enslavement. American casualties are mounting toward the appalling total of 75,000.

If this war is to go on, then a far greater effort must be made to relate the emotions, the energies, the beliefs and convictions of all the American people to it. Failure in this respect has been conspicuous almost everywhere one looks. In such a rudimentary matter as collecting enough blood to be flown to hospitals in Tokyo and to the front lines in Korea, the apathy has been shocking. Again and again the Red Cross has had to go out and almost literally beat the bushes to get enough people to come in and be donors.

An American War
The failure to accept the Korean War as an American war was startlingly revealed when a veterans hospital refused admittance to a serviceman out of the Korean conflict. Congress moved with almost unprecedented speed to correct the failure, authorizing the Veterans Administration to treat Korean G. I.'s as the veterans of other wars are treated. Nevertheless, it was an illustration of the reluctance to face up to realities.

There are other steps, if the war is to go on, that should be taken at every level, and not alone by the government but by citizens acting together and determined to relate this grim business to the stream of American history. The heroism is there, the courage and fortitude of American fighting men proved over and over again and often against overwhelming obstacles and difficulties. The failure is with those of us who have been unable or unwilling to connect this distant drama with the security of our daily lives.

Many Civilians Killed
If the war is now to end, then there are also obligations that we have not faced up to. The necessity to do at least a minimum of rehabilitation in Korea looms large. Those who have seen the destruction say it is far worse than anything in World War II. Official estimates put the number of Korean civilians killed or wounded at around 600,000, but a more accurate estimate would be closer to 2,000,000.

It will be time, too, if and when the fighting stops, to put in proper perspective the sacrifice of the men who fought and died and were wounded in this savage war. They themselves have known far more accurately what the struggle has been for. As many of them have said, in interviews, in letters, they fought in Korea to keep the Communist aggressor from destroying or enslaving America.

Baking powder now can be made wholly from American materials, thanks to the commercial synthesis of tartaric acid. This ingredient previously has been made from deposits that form during the aging of French wine.

Dixie Veterans Hold Last Rally

Only Three Left For Confederate Reunion

NORFOLK, Va. — (AP) — Three wise-cracking old southern gentlemen meet here today for the first time in their lives—and anything's liable to happen.

Each is 105 years old. And each admits he came to the 61st, final reunion of the United Confederate Veterans to see some pretty girls.

The three—who represent one-fourth the survivors of the southern army—are William J. Bush, of Fitzgerald, Ga.; John Salling of Slant, Va., and William D. Townsend of Olla, La.

By the time Bush planned in Tuesday night after Townsend had arrived by train earlier in the day, persons attending the reunion had given up trying to predict what the old soldiers would do next.

And the tempo increased last night when Salling—ordered to bed Monday with a bad cold—made a dramatic arrival via a navy plane which had been sent to Bristol, Va.-Tenn., to pick him up.

Local citizens, after watching the three old gentlemen in action, admitted the trio will have worn down many a younger man and woman by the time the convention ends on Saturday.

France Is Allotted Newsprint For Use In Propaganda Attack

WASHINGTON—A 15 nation raw materials committee has allotted 3,000 tons of newsprint to France to meet "conditions of exceptional emergency," which it did not explain further.

Presumably the newsprint will help the French government reply to Communist propaganda attacks before national elections on June 17.

Allocation of the American and Canadian newsprint was recommended by the pulp-paper committee of the raw materials conference of 26 western nations. There is a world-wide newsprint shortage.

France was given permission to buy the paper immediately at normal market prices.

created for the first time in 16 months in April. The month's toll was 2,569 and boosted the total for the first four months of 1951 to 10,460, seven per cent above the comparable period last year. The April toll was three per cent below the total of April, 1950.

(By The Associated Press)
Michigan, which had expected a traditionally big toll, observed one of its safest Memorial Days Wednesday.

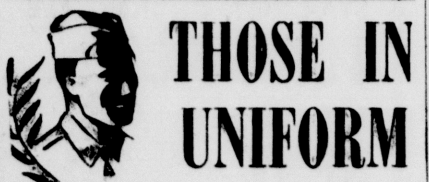

Initial reports after the holiday indicated a limited death toll.

Eight persons were killed in automobile traffic. There was one drowning.

This covers the period from 6 p. m. (EST) Tuesday through last midnight.

Memorial Day's victims included a baby girl who was killed in a collision of two cars seven miles north of Jackson.

She was four-month-old Patricia Louise, daughter of Mrs. Louise Ellis, 28, of Rives Junction, north of Jackson. Two other persons were hospitalized.

Bellhop Saves Bing In Hotel Brushoff At Vancouver, B. C.

VANCOUVER, B. C. — (AP) — A bellhop solved Bing Crosby's troubles after he had been given the brush-off at a swank hotel here. The room clerk didn't recognize the crooner—dressed in a leather jacket and cheap dangles—and told him no rooms were available.

Crosby started for the door when the bellhop recognized him, heard his troubles and started him via the freight elevator to the seventh floor.

The red cap fixed things on his own and soon had Bing and his producer, Bill Morrow, lodged in two rooms.

Today, Crosby is cruising in the Gulf of Georgia for "some King-sized salmon and some vagrant cod."

Fire Out Of Control Near Timmins, Ont.

TIMMINS, Ont. — (AP) — Fire raced today through rich northern Ontario timberland and toward the big Abitibi Pulp and Paper Company.

The blaze started late yesterday. Already it has destroyed 4,800 acres of spruce and jackpine about 100 miles northeast of here on the Quebec border.

It was the only one of 17 forest fires in the province still burning out of control.

Three hundred volunteer firefighters tried unsuccessfully to drive a flaming wedge in front of the blaze. More men and equipment were being rushed in by plane and truck.

Anti-Reds Sweep Election In Italy

ROME — (AP) — Final returns today gave Premier Alcide De Gasperi's church-supported Christian Democrats and other anti-Communist parties a sweeping victory over Italy's Reds in provincial council elections in one-third of Italy this week.

The Communists and allied Socialists polled 35.3 per cent of the 8,500,000 votes cast.

De Gasperi reported to President Luigi Einaudi last night that his "Atlantic Pact" coalition's candidates had won control of 21 of the 27 North Italy provincial councils for which elections were held, and of city councils in 22 of the 28 provincial capitals (one province did not elect a new provincial council).

Thrusts Directed At Strongholds Of Reds In Korea

spondent John Randolph, is a no-man's-land. Americans patrol it by day, Chinese by night.

The Chinese started their first spring offensive prematurely April 22 to keep the allies away from Chorwon. At that time U. N. forces were four miles away.

Going Is Tough
One of the announced objectives of the current allied counter-offensive is to force the Reds into another premature attack.

During such offensives the Chinese have been cut down in the greatest numbers.

Thirteen miles east of Yonchon on a highway leading toward Kumhwa, a Red regiment stopped an American advance south of Chipo.

Chinese and North Koreans are sensitive to any approach to Chorwon and Kumhwa. These points have been their main assembly and supply centers for months.

But Allied troops found tough going even to the rear of these spearheads.

South Koreans had to fight to enlarge their crossings of the Imjin river, southwest of the Yonchon action. Heretofore they had faced comparatively light opposition in advances south of the 38th Parallel.

Hell Breaks Loose
Just north of the border American troops were forced to withdraw Wednesday from positions near Yonpyong under heavy mortar, rifle and automatic weapon fire. The highway town is in the sector between Yonchon and Chipo, and about 10 miles to the rear.

Elsewhere on the West-Central front an allied tank patrol near Yonpyong pulled back from strong Red artillery fire.

In the general area west of allied-held Hwachon, 478 more hungry Reds surrendered to South Korean and American troops. The U. N. command says more than 10,000 Reds have given up in the last five weeks.

On the south and western sides of Hwachon reservoir itself, South Koreans found few live Communists. They counted 1,028 who had been killed in previous actions.

But "all hell broke loose" around Inje, east of the reservoir, an American division spokesman said.

Big Oil Companies Not Anxious To Talk About State Gas Tax

LANSING — (AP) — Governor Williams wants to talk to the big oil companies about absorbing Michigan's gas tax increase, but it appears they aren't anxious to talk to him.

Two of the top companies, Standard Oil of Indiana and Sun Oil, sent word to the governor they were declining his invitation to a conference this afternoon.

Others of the 13 major companies invited were expected to follow suit.

Sun and Standard of Indiana said the governor was asking them to break the law by "tampering with prices" in violation of anti-trust laws.

Williams demanded the companies absorb all or part of the 1.5-cent a gallon increase voted by the legislature over his veto.

Ex-President Jailed

LONDON — (AP) — The Daily Telegraph said today Hungary's Communist government has jailed ex-President Arpad Szakasits on spy charges. The 63-year-old former Social Democrat leader, who merged Hungary's Socialists and Communists, resigned last year because of "ill health."

Iran Oil Tiff In Tight Knot

TEHRAN, Iran — (AP) — Iran's critical oil dispute snarled itself into a still tighter knot today as the government told Britain it plans to go ahead with nationalization of its giant British-controlled oil industry at once. It gave the Anglo-Iranian company five days to make any suggestions.

A memorandum to the giant British-controlled oil company last night left little hope of any solution to the problem, in the opinion of British observers here.

The memorandum was handed the oil company's local representative, N. R. Seddon, by Finance Minister Mohammed Ali Varasteh at the first meeting of a company official and a government minister since Iran passed the nationalization law a month ago.

The note, outlining "regulations for execution" of the nationalization law, said a three-man government board was going to Khuzistan province, site of Anglo-Iranian's operations, to run the nationalized industry.

Chicago Negro Held As Main Source Of Detroit Dope Traffic

DETROIT — (AP) — A Chicago Negro described by police as the principal source of dope for Detroit's illicit narcotics traffic was held today for federal prosecution.

He was identified as George Casey, 34, and police said he was the head of the narcotics syndicate in Chicago. He was a witness before the Kefauver crime committee hearings in Chicago.

The Chicagoan was arrested in Allen, near Hillsdale, last Tuesday by treasury agents and an officer of the Detroit police narcotics squad.

They said they had been seizing Casey's runners with some regularity but had been unable to catch Casey in Michigan.

Agents were tipped that Casey's car had broken down in Allen, 12 miles east of Coldwater on US-2-112. Casey was found in a garage.

The agents said that when arrested Casey was carrying heroin and cocaine valued at $20,000 on the illicit market.

Priest Saves Youth On 9th-Story Ledge Poised For Suicide

BOSTON — (AP) — A white-haired priest was credited today with saving the life of an 18-year-old youth who teetered precariously on a 9th-story hotel ledge for 92 minutes yesterday, apparently bent suicide.

The youth was identified as Albert Thomas, an army private absent without leave from Fort Dix, N. J., for two weeks.

His rescuer was Father Joseph P. Curran of St. Stephen's Catholic church, who was attracted to the scene by a throng gathered in front of the hotel Touraine.

Father Curran, conversing with Thomas through the window by which the youth gained access to the ledge, finally persuaded him to leave his 18-inch wide perch after unsuccessful attempts by several others, including a pretty girl recruited for that purpose.

British Cruiser Set To Sail For Iran And Aid In Evacuation

LONDON — (AP) — The British Admiralty announced last night that the 8,000 ton cruiser Mauritius had been alerted to sail for Iran if needed "for an evacuation or for any eventuality."

The cruiser, now at the British Naval Base in Ceylon, was ordered to cancel a scheduled cruise along the East African coast and stand by for further orders, the admiralty said.

The admiralty described the stand-by order as a routine precaution.

State Office Building In Lansing Promised Approval From NPA

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) said today the National Production Authority has informed him it will approve construction of a $5,000,000 state office building in Lansing, Mich.

Such approval is required for any construction taking more than 25 tons of steel. The new structure would replace one that burned early this year.

German Mine Blast Traps 14; British Disaster Takes 81

HAMM-HERRINGEN, Germany — (AP) — An explosion trapped 14 German miners early today in a blazing mine shaft, and rescue workers abandoned all hope of getting any of the men out alive. Twenty miners were saved—four of them critically injured.

It was the second European coal mine disaster of the week. Hope was abandoned yesterday for 62 British coal miners trapped 900 feet below ground at Easington, Eng. The Easington death toll was 81.

The miners were entombed 3,000 feet below ground when an explosion touched off a fire in a conveyor belt which ignited coal dust.

Smock Strike Truce Called At Chrysler

DETROIT — (AP) — A two-week truce was reached in the week-old Chrysler Dodge main plant "smock strike" today shortly after assembly operations were halted again.

President Art Gruzen of CIO United Auto Workers Local 3 said the membership in five affected departments at the plant voted almost unanimously to stay on the job until June 14 while he and other union leaders attempt to settle the unusual dispute.

If no settlement is reached by then, he said, the local will take a formal strike vote.

About 8,500 day shift workers were idled today. Gruzen said night shift employees would vote on the truce plan later in the day.

The move is expected to return operation to normal tomorrow.

Widow Of Ambushed Jeweler In Detroit Loses Little Girl, 5

DETROIT — (AP) — Widowed by an ambush-killer's bullets two weeks ago, Mrs. Rebecca Swartz lost her youngest child yesterday.

Five-year-old Irene Swartz was dead on arrival at a hospital, following an asthma attack.

Albert Swartz, the husband and father, was killed May 17. A jeweler, he had pleaded guilty to receiving film stolen in a $12,000 hijacking and had offered to turn government witness against two Chicago jewelers.

Two other Swartz children survive. They are Lenore, 16, and Sheldon, 14.

tary chiefs of Britain and France and with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, supreme commander of NATO forces on the continent.

Some seemingly unrelated questions may have direct bearing on each other in the intricate European situation—for instance the Greece-Turkey NATO membership proposal and the delicate question of the nationality of the commander of allied forces in the Mediterranean.

If the U. S.-endorsed idea of making Greece and Turkey members of NATO should carry, Eisenhower's command might embrace the whole Mediterranean rather than terminate at the southern shores of France.

In that event, the behind-scenes maneuvering of Britain and France over the Mediterranean sea command might be settled by putting the command under the top level direction of Eisenhower's headquarters.

One Dead In Nebraska Tornado; 15 Injured By Holiday Twisters

SCOTT'SBLUFF, Neb. — (AP) — Two Memorial Day tornadoes, roaring down on western Nebraska communities, killed one and left 15 injured.

Last night at Schuyler, in the eastern part of the state, 5.37 inches of rain fell. Many basements were filled with water.

Heavy rains hit other scattered communities, hail frequently accompanying them.

Hundreds of persons on holiday outings near here watched horrified as one of the twisters appeared out of a sunny afternoon sky yesterday. Weaving in and out among half a dozen communities, it struck only two, the villages of Bayard and Mc Grew.

The other swooped down at dusk near Imperial, 120 miles southeast of here. It flipped over a car killing the driver and injuring a passenger. Then it ripped through three farms.

Extra Job Is Fatal To Detroit Father, Killed By Holdup Man

DETROIT — (AP) — Robert Johnke, 24, was shot and killed last night on the extra job he got to help pay for his wife's first baby and their new home.

Police said he was the apparent victim of a robber who took $33 from a cash register of a Warren township gasoline station tended by Johnke.

Johnke was found dying in a corridor leading from the gasoline station to other establishments in a business block on Van Dyke avenue.

He had been shot in the head. Police said he may have been trying to resist the holdup man or trying to escape.

Johnke's wife, Mildred, 28, collapsed at word of his death. She expects her first baby soon. The couple were building a new home. Johnke, regularly employed by the Standard Steel Spring Co., got the second job to help with finances.

Tooth Decay Would Vanish If People Didn't Have To Eat

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

Associated Press Science Reporters
BOSTON—(AP)—One sure way to abolish tooth decay is shown in dental research here—take all your food by stomach tube.

It proves there is no decay if food never makes contact with teeth, or never accumulates on the teeth. No one is likely to stop eating and use a stomach tube. But the finding reinforces a sound bit of advice to help avoid decay—brush your teeth or at least rinse your mouth vigorously after each meal or snack.

Tested On Rats

The stomach tube experiments were done on rats at Harvard School of Dental Medicine by Drs. Owen W. Kite, James H. Shaw, and Reidar F. Sognnaes. Their work nailed down one more fact in the search to prevent or abolish human tooth decay.

They studied rats which were naturally susceptible to tooth decay. These rats get exactly the same kind of decay as humans.

Some rats were allowed to eat food that usually causes a good deal of tooth decay. Others were fed the same diet by stomach tube.

Those fed by tube had no tooth decay at all. The rats eating the food did suffer decay. There was even more tooth decay in rats whose salivary glands had been removed. But there still was no decay in rats, tube-fed, whose salivary glands had been taken out.

This was proof of something long suspected—that collections of food debris in the mouth are a critical factor in starting and carrying on tooth decay. Dr. Kite, then a dental student, tackled the laborious tube-feeding task to demonstrate the point.

Depends On Heredity

The kind of food you eat has important bearing on whether you get tooth decay, Dr. Sognnaes said. But much depends, too, on heredity and the food you had when your teeth were being formed. One mystery still to be solved is why some people are susceptible to tooth decay and others aren't.

Monkeys living in a wild state in India had teeth free of decay. Captured, and fed in the laboratory on foods extremely high in sugar content, they still didn't get decay on these teeth. But their new teeth, formed after they had been captured, did develop decay on the high-sugar diet. The new teeth were different chemically from those formed when the monkeys were living under natural conditions.

Scientists are trying to learn how to build decay-resistant teeth.

"If we could do that, then we literally could eat our cake and have it, too," said Dr. Sognnaes, "we know that teeth stand up without decay if no food touches them, but when we know how to build teeth correctly, there is real hope they will stand up under the impact of modern foods, even diets containing a lot of sugar."

Not Always So

Tooth decay now is man's most prevalent disease. But it wasn't always so, studies of early man's teeth show.

The Ice Age man of 70,000 years ago had highly specialized teeth that could take a lot of insults. Neanderthal man had sound teeth, too, but even then his teeth were inferior in structure to those of present-day monkeys.

Man in early England had almost no tooth decay. Almost every Englishman today suffers decay. In Greece, a study covering 5,000 years shows an increasing tendency for humans to develop decay.

The Harvard scientists are trying to learn exactly how sound, decay-resistant teeth are formed—what each chemical step is and

Opportunities Are Still Here

But Young People Want 'Easy Jobs'

By ROGER W. BABSON
BABSON PARK, Mass.—During the past winter many young people have complained to me saying: "There are not as many good opportunities today for young people as there were fifty years ago." Let me answer by saying this complaint is all wrong so far as it applies to those willing to do a good day's work. Here are eight reasons to prove it.

(1) Although our United States population has increased from 75,984,575 in 1900 (when I got my first job at ten dollars per week) to 153,490,000 today, the demand for workers has increased much more. Hence, population figures are in favor of today's young people.

(2) There are many more opportunities for free advanced education than ever before. These include free Degree Scholarships in all good colleges, very cheap extension correspondence courses in most subjects, and excellent public libraries where one can get a good education by merely systematic reading.

(3) The average young person today will not work hard or for long hours. He wants an "easy job." This gives those few who are glad to work hard and long much better jobs and faster promotions.

What Employers Want
(4) Employers want young workers to have good habits—those who let liquor alone and don't smoke during business hours. As each year fewer job applicants appear to qualify for good habits, those few who do possess them have an advantage.

(5) Those who belong to no labor union also have an advantage in getting good jobs and fast promotions. This gives another opportunity to young people not possessed by elders.

(6) Another advantage young people have today is the ability to borrow money for a home. When I got married it was necessary to put 40 per cent cash down. We could borrow only 60 per cent and only for 3 to 5 years. Now, any good couple can borrow 80 per cent or more with payments extended over 20 years. In addition, they today have Social Security, Accident Insurance and other benefits which Mrs. Babson and I never had.

(7) As a statistician, I must remind readers of how the country's birth rate will help graduates this coming June. If you were born during the early "thirties" when there was great unemployment and few marriages and babies, you now have not so many to compete with.

(8) The pension plans which are now rapidly increasing not only eliminate the oldsters more rapidly, thus making promotions easier for you, but they also furnish you security in your latter days.

The Draft Worry
I repeat my previous advice that you go ahead with your plans for college or for getting a job the same as if no war were possible. Congress is acting on Universal Military Training just as I forecast. Moreover, those who are drafted are about as safe as those who stay at home; while the 85 per cent who return okay will have benefits as veterans, which the non-drafted boys will not have.

One more thought. The question as to whether you will become an employer some day instead of always remaining a wage worker will largely be determined by this simple rule: If you save some money each week, you can some day become an employer. If you don't

Americans Are Big Braggarts

Too Much Yackety Yak, Says Ruark

By ROBERT C. RUARK

NEW YORK—An intemperate fellow I know was watching the televised efforts of the New York Yankees the other day, and he turned from the receiver with a snarl.

"Listen to that announcer," he growled. "Yak, yak, yak. Laughing at his own jokes. Making fun of things you can already see. The batter steps out of the box, he says, 'Hell's horns. I'm not blind. I can see the batter step out of the box. The trouble with everybody today is that we talk too much. Nothing but yak, yak, from Washington to baseball. There is a slight chance that this gentleman may be a little overstrident in his condemnation of our national bent toward the blabbermouth, but he is not too far away from a truth. We surround ourselves with noise, whether it be wind from Capitol Hill or from the little four-eyed scientists with the new dish of disaster to set before the king. An atomic scientist has told me—the big blabbermouth—that Klaus Fuchs, the atom spy, delivered every last jot of advanced nuclear knowledge to the Russians before they caught him and shut him away. In our quest for a free science we have pinpointed in ordinary, purchasable publications enough gratis information on strengths and weaknesses to make an espionage system nearly needless to the Russians. Every time some large brain peers into a test tube and comes out with a new way to strip the globe of atmosphere or turn the sun into a torch—quick, fast, hurry and tell everyone about the marvels of the new toy. Blabbermouthery has become our international weakness. I hate to estimate how much aid, comfort and concrete information has been delivered the Soviets in the recent dirty-linen debacle from Washington over the MacArthur-Truman fight, and in the former endless series of gratis information that buck congressmen and apprentice generals have spouted in order to prove personal or political points. Nation Of Braggarts Domestically, we have blabbermouthed our way to the semi-ruination of relations between man and woman, with the simplest actions and mannerisms between man and woman, with the simplest actions and mannerisms being second-guessed at the top of everybody's lungs. Everything from child-raising to nail-cleaning has been loudly declaimed with the ulterior motive. We are known as a nation of braggarts abroad, and with some reason. I do not espouse the control of either speech or freedom of the press, radio, or any other method of communications. I merely suggest a little more self-imposed restraint in the popping off of everybody, especially me. ## Start of a Wonderful Journey!

Well, there it goes—out from the great Cadillac factory into the hands of a proud and happy owner.

And what an odyssey it would make if its whole future course could be charted and foreseen!

—far journeys to the world's most fascinating places... grand appearances at the proudest social events... splendid visits to affairs of state... year after year of participation in the life of a fine American family.

Yes—and perhaps two or three, or even four fine American families—for a Cadillac is so soundly designed and built that there is no practical limit to its utility.

Truly, no more interesting biography could be written than an account of the life of the average Cadillac car. As the primary means of transportation for interesting, vital people—it is usually a spectator at important events—always in demand as a trustworthy traveling companion.

So there it goes, like the many thousands of its predecessors, on one of the most eventful and fascinating journeys a motor car ever began.

Wouldn't it be wonderful—and inspiring—to go along?

We are sorry indeed that delay in delivery of new Cadillacs continues unavoidable. If you are waiting for a Cadillac, please be patient—But hold to your purpose. There is no substitute for the "Standard of the World."

First Friday Adoration Vigil At Hospital Chapel

The next First Friday nocturnal adoration vigil will be held tomorrow, June 1 at St. Francis hospital chapel. This is the ninth Friday completing the series which began on the feast of the most Holy Rosary last October.

The hours and the procedure of the remaining vigils have been changed somewhat and the devotion will begin with Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament at seven o'clock instead of six.

So that the greatest number will receive the greatest good, a method of allotting the late hours has been worked out. In this way the hour is known a month in advance and matters can be arranged so that it will be possible to attend at the time specified.

Alphabetically and rotating every month each church will have one late hour and will provide prayer leaders for the hour assigned. St. Ann's will have the midnight hour; St. Joseph's the one o'clock hour; St. Patrick's the two o'clock hour; and St. Thomas, the three o'clock hour. In July each parish takes an hour later or earlier as the case may be; St. Thomas will have the midnight hour and St. Patrick's the three o'clock hour etc. The suggestion was made that everyone try to arrive 30 minutes early and leave 30 minutes later than the scheduled time so that the chapel will be filled with people from two parishes present at all times.

Those who attended the first vigil have continued and they all agree that the devotion is particularly beautiful, comforting and consoling. Many people have come great distances. Those who come from beyond St. Nicholas have never missed a vigil. Those who have never missed a late vigil include the ill, the elderly and the busiest.

It will take you just 39 minutes at the Sun-Brite Laundry-dromat to learn the easy way to do your family washing. For only 70c you can do 2 big loads (and you get 48 gallons of 140° water plus 8 oz. of detergent!) It's the modern laundry method; so get off the shelf and fill those linen shelves with the help of the Sun-Brite Laundry-dromat. You shelve your laundry worries there!

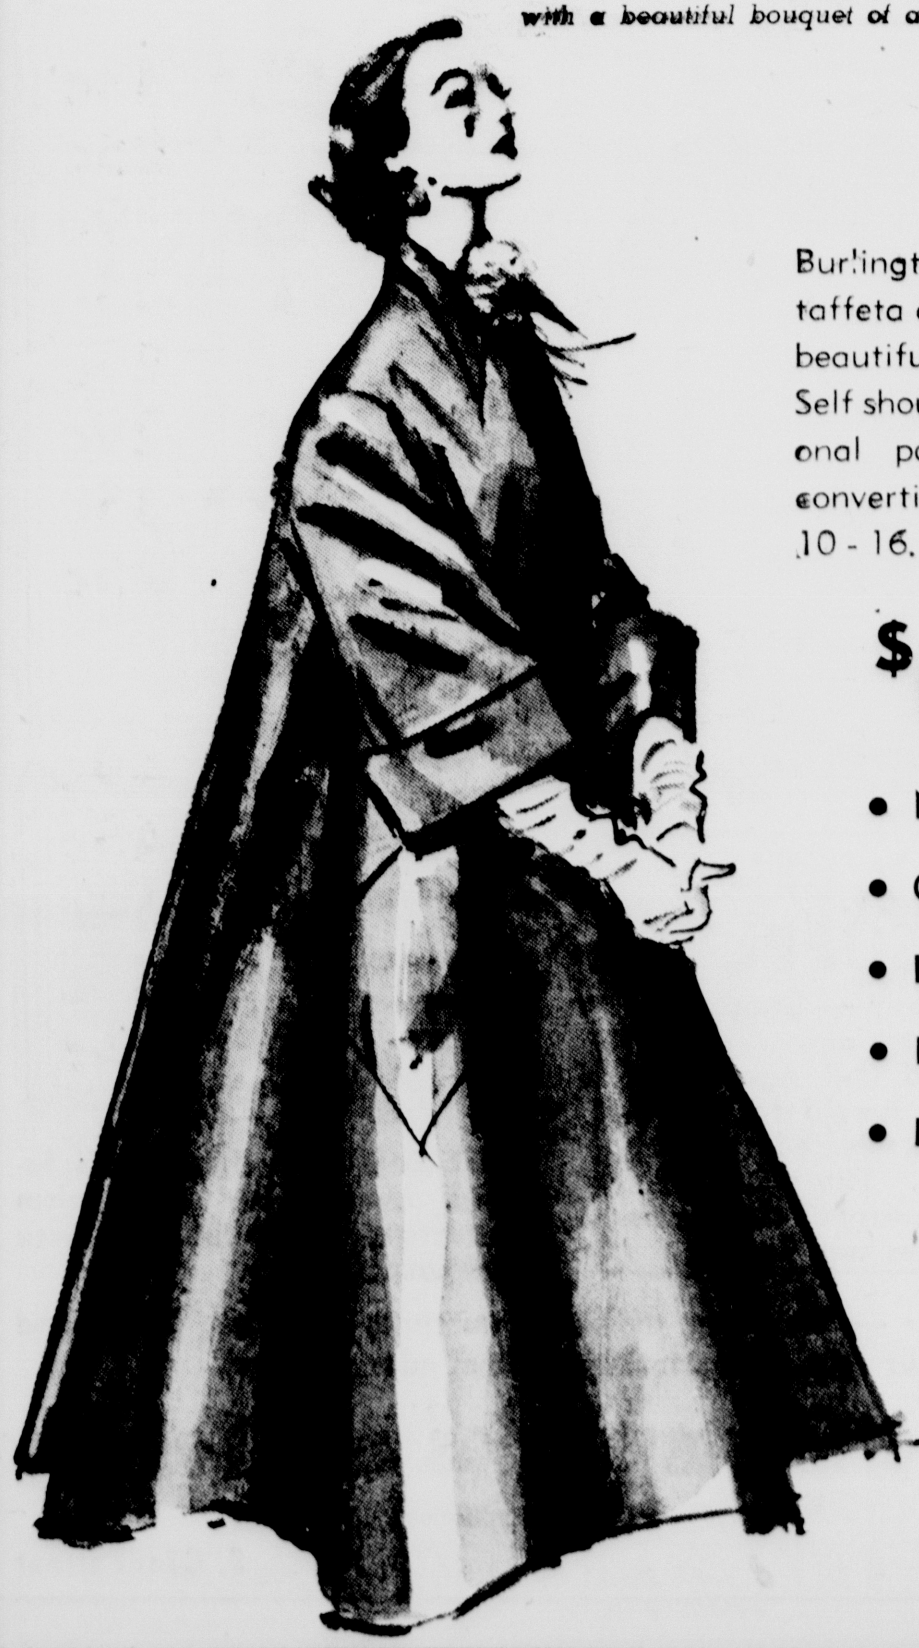

A HEAVYWEIGHT friend of mine who takes a lot of kidding about his size always tells me, "They're having fun at my expense!" Good news for the fat boys are some T-shirts with vertical stripes that I saw at Anderson-Bloom. Those up and down stripes give an optical illusion that cut you down to size. No slim pickings in T-shirts at Anderson-Bloom: you'll find sweater knit weaves—gay colors—some with collars and pockets. Here's what every fellow needs for active sports, working around the yard, or just plain loafing. And you'll have fun at their expense—just $1.35 to $3.98!

"I SEE you're driving a new car," I said to an insurance salesman. "Yes," he answered—I tried to sell an insurance policy to a Studebaker salesman!" Understandable! Those enthusiastic Studebaker salesmen just can't help but be sold on those super cars — and when you're sold, you sell! Have you had a ride in a '51 Stude? The sleek styling, the high powered engine, the all around vision make it the buy of the year. Studebaker is in the low priced car field; so learn to drive a Studebaker for economy and pleasure. See Petersen and Jabocson Auto Service!

A DISCOURAGED Tiger fan said the other day, "An umpire is what a baseball player becomes after he loses his eyesight!" I want to tell you my eyesight is pretty good, and I saw some stockings at the Fair Store that prove Phoenix knows the score — no runs—a big hit—and you'll make no error when you buy them! By now you've guessed I'm talking about the Phoenix Run-R-Less mesh hose. These 51 gauge, 30 denier nylon stockings just can't run, so they're worth twice the $1.85 you pay. They come in three pretty Spring shades and look sheer and flattering. Short, medium and long lengths, too. Stop to see these mesh hose at the Fair—when it comes to runs, they just don't get to first base!

New Resort Folders Now Available Here

Manistique's new resort folder, the largest ever printed for the Schoolcraft vacation area, is now available at the chamber of commerce office at Triangle Park.

The folder is printed in two colors, blue and black, and is illustrated with attractive pictures of the area's choice vacation attractions.

Included in the illustrations are pictures of the Big Spring, the Blessing of the boats ceremony at Fayette, the Thompson fish hatchery, the Indian Lake golf course, the Manistique's famous "siphon" bridge across the Manistique river.

Numerous advertisements by business firms catering to vacationists appear in the folder. Revenue from the advertising made possible the publication of this new and different type of folder for the area.

Manistique water consumers who are delinquent in paying their accounts will be given until June 1 to pay their bills or make arrangements to pay them, it was decided at the council meeting Monday night.

Establishment Of Speed Control On US-2 Here Sought

Establishment of speed control zones on US-2 through the city is requested in a resolution passed by the city council at its regular meeting Monday night.

The resolution requests the Michigan state police and the state highway department to make a study of speed control, and also provides that the city will pay for half the cost of any speed control signs to be erected.

The area covered by the city resolution extends from the eastern city limits to the western limit of the city. Any speed control zone extended beyond the city boundary would be a state highway department project entirely.

Complaints that motorists are traveling at high speeds at the approaches on US-2 prompted passage of the resolution.

Fine Marquette Man For Gum Theft Here

Gerald David Bengry, 26, of Marquette, paid a fine of $20 and costs of $3.75 when arraigned in local justice court Tuesday morning on a charge of stealing three cartons of gum from a wholesale truck last Friday night.

His wife and her sister, who were with him when the theft was committed, were dismissed.

Bengry also made restitution for damage to a car owned by Nick Parente which Bengry's car bumped when the Marquette trio left Nick's Bar following the theft.

The gum was taken from a wholesale truck owned by Van Eyck's Specialty company, Manistique, which was unloading merchandise at Nick's Bar, old US-2 west, last Friday evening. The license number of the Marquette car was taken by Mrs. Parente who reported to state police here.

Marquette state police, who picked the three up in Marquette, relayed them to Rapid River Tuesday morning, and a local state police machine brought them to Manistique for arraignment.

Crawford and Mrs. Leon Nicholson.

The first golf playing is scheduled for the meeting of June 13. Hostesses for this session will be Mrs. J. L. LeDuc and Mrs. Fred Gorsche.

The council also ordered that bids be sought on a new power lawn mower for cemetery use, and also instructed the city manager to obtain prices on steel light poles as replacements for present light standards. Sale of a used city pump also was approved.

Permission to remodel the front of the Curran Motor Sales building also was granted. The garage front is to be reconstructed with brick and glass block windows, resting on three-foot supports.

Following a discussion of smoke and fly ash in the city, the council decided to request the Ann Arbor carteries and the paper company to endeavor to keep the nuisance at a minimum.

ROVING SCOUT

Bill Ranguette Leaves for Coast Sunday

The term "roving" is no misnomer when applied to Scout Bill Ranguette who works with the Chicago White Sox baseball organization.

Bill, manager of the state auto license bureau here, will begin roving for Chisox Sunday when he leaves on a 35-45 day trip to the west coast in search of young baseball talent.

The Escanaba baseball scout, who has been with the surprising White Sox for three seasons, expects to cover thousands of miles and thousands of young ball players on his western trip.

"We'll travel up and down the west coast and into Montana and the Western league looking over baseball prospects, and I mean travel," Bill said this week.

"Sometimes you have to go several hundred miles out of your way to check on a couple of players who have good local reputations. We don't mind, either, because we want to see all the youngsters possible on the trip."

"The chief has assigned 10 of us roving scouts to the road and we'll cover the territory thoroughly," Bill stated.

This will be Ranguette's second trip to the coast for the White Sox, with whom he became affiliated in 1949. Bill is in charge of scouting in the Upper Peninsula and northern Wisconsin.

Of Upper Peninsula baseball prospects, Bill says there are a few he has been keeping an eye on. "Ray Menard is one who will bear watching," he said. Menard is a Ferris Institute hurler who is currently chugging for Bark River in the Tri-County league.

"There are several high school boys around who may also develop into pretty fair prospects," Ranguette added.

Prokos First In Relay Vaulting

Six records were broken at Marquette in the Memorial Day Relays in which Escanaba high school placed fourth in class B.

The B crown was won by Newberry with 44½ points. Houghton captured the C title with 44 points and Eben the D-E championship with 44 points.

Coaches Steve Baltic and Henry Wylie had a winner in John Prokos, new U. P. record holder, who soared 10 feet, six inches over the bar to top the pole vaulting field.

The Esby two-mile relay team finished second, the medley relay team third and the mile relay crew fifth.

Newberry won the B championship in the final 880-yard by edging Soo by a mere three feet. Only one-half point separated the teams going into the event.

Team scoring: Class B—Newberry 44½, Soo 41, Marquette 34½, Escanaba 21, Ishpeming 20, Negaunee 7½, Manistique 0. Class C—Houghton 44, Iron River 34, Ontonagon 20, L'Anse 16, Munising 7, Ewen 0. Class D-E—Eben 44, Gwin 39, J. D. Pierce 32, St. Paul 14, Hermansville 8, Treeny 6.

Golf Movie Will Be Shown Tomorrow Eve

A technicolor sound motion picture entitled "Famous Fairways" will be shown to members and guests at the Escanaba Golf club tomorrow evening.

Preceding the film will be a two-ball mixed foursome event in the late afternoon and a fish fry in the evening.

"Many of the leading professionals in golf appear in this film which combines golf instruction with many interesting and picturesque views of the stars performing on some of the world's best courses," Bill Mark, Escanaba professional, said.

Relax On Short Approach, Use Forearms And Wrists

Twenty-second of a series by members of the P. G. A.

By HERMAN BARRON
Former Western and All-American Open Champion

Professionals have heard and said that the important part of the game is the short approach.

The player can make up for a couple of bad ones, put himself in good position for sinking putts if he can get the ball close to the pin with his short ones.

The most important single piece of advice I can give week-enders is to see how smoothly they can hit the ball.

The shot must be played with the forearms and wrists—no body movement—yet in a relaxed style that will permit the important follow through.

Judge your distance.

Select the right club.

Selecting the club for a short shot, I judge three things. I check the contour of the green to determine how far and in which direction I wish the ball to roll.

I check the speed of the green. If it is slow I won't be able to play as much roll as on a faster surface.

Of great importance is the distance the pin is set back on the green. If it's close to the edge, my ball, landing on the edge of the green, will have only a short distance to roll, indicating the proper club to be one of more loft.

I take my stance with feet close together, toes slightly open, and the face of the club slightly closed on the ball. The grip should be shortened considerably from the usual manner, with the hands well down on the grip.

Eskymos Defeat Ishpeming 12-2

Finish Season With Undefeated Record

Escanaba high school capped its first undefeated baseball season since 1945 Tuesday afternoon by whipping Ishpeming in the season finale by a 12-2 score.

Jack Chriske tamed the Hematites on their own field with six hits. He walked four and fanned 11 going the full route. Jim Nyquist caught his final game for the Eskymos. He graduates next week.

Escanaba had little trouble with the Ishpeming club, scoring four big runs in a fourth inning spurge. Joe Johnston and Tom Kroll contributed triples.

Johnston stole home in the feature play of the game. His dash for the plate upset the Ishpeming pitcher who threw wild to the backstop and Paul Davidson scored all the way from second.

The Eskymos rattled 11 hits off two Ishpeming hurlers. Ostlund started and was relieved by Sharland with Rinnia catching. Ishpeming was guilty of four errors.

Last season the Eskymos lost only one game, dropping a tilt to Iron Mountain. When baseball was reorganized in 1945 Escanaba played and won one game.

Coach Jim Rouman's club topped St. Joseph, Marquette twice and Negaunee this season.

Wallard Winner At Indianapolis

All-Time Record Is Set In 500-Miler

INDIANAPOLIS—Lee Wallard, winner of the 35th annual 500-mile auto race at the Indianapolis motor speedway, has made it a driving contest again.

The postwar theory of competing in the "500" generally was to drive steadily at a speed a little better than previous winning times, more or less ignoring the competition.

Wallard changed that in his first speedway victory. He pushed his hardest all the way yesterday to win at 126.244 miles an hour—almost 5 miles faster than Bill Holland's 1949 record.

The 40-year-old Altamont, N.Y., veteran treated the big race like a dirt track sprint.

Rose Wrecks
It was the fourth straight running of the race without a fatality.

Mauri Rose of South Bend, Ind., trying to become the first man to win four times, wrecked at the northwest turn after 312½ miles. His car lost a wheel and overturned. But he escaped with only scratches. Otherwise, there were only minor skids and spins.

Wallard took the $500 prize for the fastest lap in the race by averaging 133.809 miles an hour on his 23rd lap—faster than many of the qualifying times.

Wallard almost drove the wheels off his midnight blue and gold Belanger special but the tough little car held its main parts together to the finish. He had only seven companions left on the track from the starting field of 32.

The new speedway champ shed his exhaust pipe and one shock absorber and wore out his brakes.

Fastest Ever
He finished with a flourish and a big grin, sitting on his car's tail with his feet on the seat—wagging the useless brake lever.

The pace that knocked 25 cars out of the race was so fast that all of the six who finished the full 500 miles bettered Bill Holland's two-year-old record of 121.327 miles an hour. The two others still running were flagged off the track.

Mike Nazaruk of East Meadow, L. I., competing for the first time, took second money in Johnnie Parson's 1950 winning car.

Manuel Ayulo of Burbank, Calif., driving relief for McGrath, got third.

Robert (Blazin' Bobby) Ball of Phoenix, Ariz., a newcomer to the speedway, was fourth.

Henry Banks of Compton, Calif., national driving champ last year, finished for the first time in five speedway starts, and took fifth.

Andy Linden of Los Angeles was sixth.

First-timer Carl Forberg of Detroit was seventh and Duane Carter, also of Detroit, was eighth.

Jim Masker, Big Ten Official, Is Dead

Jim Masker, veteran Big Ten football official until his retirement two years ago who was well known here, died yesterday after a long illness. He was 71.

Yesterday's Stars

Batting, Vern Stephens, Red Sox—Won first game with homer in 15th inning, 11-10; sent Boston ahead for keeps with bases-loaded single in second game, 9-4, for sweep over Yankees. ## Foster City Takes 1st In Tri-County League

The Bears saw their undefeated record fall by the wayside when Powers sent two runs across in the eighth inning here. The Bears led 4-3 at that point.

Russ Hiltonen, starting hurler, was unable to find the plate and was in trouble several times. In the eighth he walked Faser and Nowack singled. Hiltonen fanned the next two men up but walked Pierpon to fill the bases.

Error At Second
An error at second base allowed one run to score and the Bear hurler hit Murray to force in another. Manager Phil Brazeau called in Jack Beck who fanned Rivat to retire the side.

Beck led off with a single in the bottom of the ninth but the

Charles Beats Maxim To Keep Heavy Crown

CHICAGO — (AP) — Ezzard Charles, heavyweight champion of the world, today is positive light-heavyweight champion Joe Maxim wants no more ring traffic with him.

Maxim is of the same opinion, too, after absorbing a one-sided trimming by Charles at the Chicago Stadium last night. It was their fourth engagement with Charles winner of them all.

Charles, making the eighth defense of his crown, won the unanimous verdict of Referee Frank Gilmer, two judges and the board approval of 7,226 spectators in pasting Maxim for 15 rounds.

Despite the poor crowd, Charles pocketed a $62,147.60 pay-check, thanks to a $100,000 television purse. Maxim got $31,073 for his losing effort.

Charles Unmarked
At the finish, Maxim was a reeling, tired, exhausted fighter. His right eye was swelling shut and he was bleeding from a cut under the eye and above it. Charles was unmarked and breathing no harder than if he had a brisk drill.

Maxim's counters were feeble and he clinched continuously. He seemed to be on the verge of collapse several times, but gamely remained on his feet until the final gong. He was treated with oxygen intermittently for 45 minutes in the dressing room after the fight and appeared to be in an exhausted condition. Crestfallen Maxim now is scheduled to risk his 175-pound title against Chicago's Bob Satterfield in the stadium June 27. But there was some question today of whether he would recuperate sufficiently to fulfill that engagement.

Beat Them All
Charles, in repulsing Maxim's feeble bid for heavyweight honors, hit the jack-pot as champion by his victory. The Cincinnati Negro now has defeated every leading rival—Joe Louis, the former champion; Jersey Joe Walcott; and now Maxim, the light-heavyweight champion.

Speaking of Walcott, Charles' next outing may be against Jersey Joe at Pittsburgh July 18. It will be the third meeting between the two. Charles first claimed Louis' vacated heavyweight crown by beating Walcott here June 22, 1949, and whipped him again at Detroit last March.

Since there was only an eight-ounce difference in the weight of Charles and Maxim—182 to 181½—Maxim's followers had anticipated a rousing battle last night. In their three previous bouts, Charles had failed to floor Maxim, and his last bout, in 1949 had resulted in a split decision.

Hurt In First
But Maxim was hurt in the opening round and failed to untrack himself thereafter. In their last bout at Cincinnati, Joey had rallied after being hurt in the third and took a lead over Charles through the 12th.

Last night, however, he was a slow inept boxer. He could neither punch effectively or slug toe-to-toe with Charles. He was an easy, wide-open target throughout the fight and appeared to be in Foster City took over sole possession of first place in the Tri-County Baseball league yesterday afternoon by measuring Wilson 10-2 at Wilson.

The Escanaba Bears fell from a tie for first, losing here to Powers 5-4.

Foster City's hurler, Charlevoix, tossed seven-hit ball for the new league leaders. He helped his own cause with a homer in the fourth with one on, giving Foster City a 5-0 lead at the time.

Floyd Benson and Herman Meganaugh shared mound duty for Wilson and allowed six hits. Five Wilson errors marred the game.

Hermansville Wins
Hermansville edged Wallace 2-1 in a tight contest with Mel Sandrin, the winning pitcher. He allowed five hits and fanned eight.

While Wagner struck out 11 and issued six hits for Wallace, Hermansville scored both its runs in the first inning.

At Bark River, Manager Leo Knauf's club topped Stephenson 6-5 with Dale Erickson turning in a fine relief chore on the mound to duck a Stephenson rally in the ninth.

Ray Menard opened on the Bark River hill and worked well until the final inning in which Stephenson collected four hits and pushed over three runs before Erickson was called to the mound.

Two Doubles
With two on two out, Erickson allowed only a single and one runner scored. Stephenson's other run came in the fifth.

Revall and Klein worked for Stephenson with Cappaert behind the plate. Menard doubled for the winners, Martin for the losers. Perronville walloped Daggett 15-2 in the remaining game.

Gladstone Tops Manistique 7-3

MANISTIQUE—Although Norm Jahn allowed only three hits, the Gladstone Redskins jolted the Manistique Cardinals, 7 to 3, in an exhibition game here yesterday afternoon by cashing in on seven Cardinal errors.

Gladstone scored twice in the third, once in the sixth, and collected three more in the eighth. The Cardinals bunched two hits in the first to produce a run and three more in the sixth for two tallies.

Red LaLonde, on the hill for the Redskins, allowed seven hits but he was well supported by his teammates who were charged with only one error.

Manistique will play at Garden next Sunday at its second Bay de Noc league game.

Aroostook Potato Empire Courts New Livelihoods

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The spud is shaking on its throne in Aroostook County, Maine.

Men who till the forest-rimmed, northern land crown of the Down East state are seeking diversification as escape from capricious King Potato. The tuber tyrant has been in power for half a century under a one-crop system that has brought wealth in the past but threatens austerity for the future, notes the National Geographic Society.

Some Mainemen are pinning their hopes on the development of Aroostook's recently discovered deposits of manganese, highly strategic mineral used in processing steel. Although the county's manganese ore is of low grade, its deposits are among the largest in the United States.

Others consider prospects bright for raising poultry, dairy and beef cattle, since Aroostook is a grain producing area. In addition barley, peas, strawberries, and broccoli loom as promising possibilities for the county's short 110-day growing period.

One Fourth In Spuds

So change impends for Aroostook's 400,000 acres of rolling lands which have, in the past, yielded nearly a seventh of the nation's potatoes. Outside competition, the end of government price support with the 1950 crop, and a drop in national consumption of potatoes are listed as reasons for the expected change to other crops on as much as three-fourths of the tillable farm areas.

Some 96,000 people inhabit Aroostook county, which covers more area than Connecticut and Rhode Island combined. Most of them live within the potato empire, a broad strip of cultivated land running north and south, 120 miles long and a fourth as wide. Here stand the principal towns, Houlton, Presque Isle, Caribou and Van Buren.

Aroostook's remaining two-thirds is woodland, a sportsman's dream. Fingered by rivers named St. John, Allagash, Fish, Aroostook, and St. Francis, flecked with cold lakes and ponds, the deep woods welcome summer visitors from near and far. Only an occasional lumber camp stands to remind vacationing fishermen of the business world they left behind.

Aroostook Means Spud

Despite its potential as a playground, Aroostook's name means spud to the rest of its state and nation. It has been so since the early 1890's when the Bangor and Aroostook Railroad pushed into the region to give it the all-important transportation link with the potato-eating world.

Acreage expanded under the pioneering hands of French, American, and Swedish colonists, who settled the potato country in three separate regions. The "American" sector includes French-named Presque Isle and stretches south. Farmers of Swedish descent pushed north of Caribou, calling their towns Stockholm, New Sweden, and Jemtland. The French settled along the Canadian border in and around villages they named Lille and Notre Dame.

A single economy fostered by the potato, was common to all, however. In years of good crops and high prices farmers lived well, bought big, expensive cars and sent their children to the best schools. Bad years sometimes meant the loss of everything but the land itself.
